Notes on Use

If a dispute arises between the child and the SOUL family legal permanency custodian or between custodians, the primary custodian shall consider information provided by the child and other SOUL family legal permanency custodians for possible resolution of a dispute. If a dispute remains unresolved prior to the child reaching 18 years of age, or June 1 of the school year during which the child became 18 years of age if the child is still attending high school, after the filing of a motion by the child or SOUL family legal permanency custodian, the court may consider such motion and may order alternative dispute resolution. If the court has previously terminated jurisdiction pursuant to K.S.A. 38-2203 or K.S.A. 38-2272a, the court may reinstate the child's case to consider such motion (Form 264).

A copy of this motion should always be given to the child and all SOUL Family Legal Permanency custodians. It should also be sent to all individuals still actively involved in the case. This will be different for each case. For example, if parental rights have been terminated, the motion does not need to be sent to the parents or parents' attorneys.
